LANDSCAPING WITH CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Chrysanthemums are grown for the Show, and are well-known and long-lasting cutflowers, but they are little known for the effect in landscaping the Fall Garden. Therefore if you have never used our modern Early Garden Chrysanthemums for landscape effect, you have missed much enjoyment you could have derived from your Fall Garden. By the use of the Hardy Garden Chrysanthemums you can transform the drab annual beds in fall into a riot of color reminding you of the colorfulness of azaleas in your Spring Garden. Imagine a border of white or yellow chrysanthemums as a border of your annual bed and behind them a row or two of red, or pink, or buff, or purple chrysanthemums, or that flower bed in your lawn with a white chrysanthemum border and rows of other colored chrysanthemums in the center, either of solid colors, or a mixture of colors. What a riot of color this would create, what a thing of beauty to behold, what an attraction to the passerby. Hardy Garden Chrysanthemums may also be used in window boxes, in beds along pathways and steps, in the rockery, in pots on the patio and so on. By this you can lengthen the usefulness and colorfulness of your Fall Garden by from four to six weeks.

HOW TO ACCOMPLISH THIS? Select the colors you like or that fit into the color scheme that you wish for your Fall Garden. Order the rooted cuttings at your earliest convenience and plant them into some sunny spot in your vegetable garden or any other out-of-the-way spot. Plant them two feet apart and grow them as shown in our Cultural Instructions. Cut them back twice to three times to get nice 18-inch high round bushes. By the time they show color or bloom, the annual beds, etc., are looking drab. Then transplant these flowering plants into the designated spots, water them once or twice, and they keep on growing as if nothing has happened, and presto, you right away have a riot of color where only a short time ago drabness and gloom were prevalent.

When the chrysanthemums are through blooming you either put them back into that spare bed where they were grown during the summer, or into a cold frame, to be planted into another sunny spot next spring. See our Cultural Instructions on how to treat them ever after.

LANDSCAPE Your Fall Garden with chrysanthemums, and our new low quantity prices make it possible for you to have a riot of color in your Fall Garden at reasonable cost.

READ BEFORE ORDERING

ORDER EARLY. During the last three seasons we were practically sold out on many varieties, especially the English ones, and had to refund on many orders. To enable us to grow enough rooted chrysanthemum cuttings this spring and to spare you any disappointment, the best time to order your chrysanthemums is as soon after you receive this list as possible. We begin shipping after April 15th, but as many varieties start making new shoots later than others, your order will be shipped as soon as ALL plants of your order are ready.

GUARANTEE. We try our best to keep our varieties true to name, but in case our rooted cuttings do not prove to be true to name, we will replace them FREE of charge next spring if notified not later than November 1st.

If our plants do not arrive in good condition, sometimes they are unduly long delayed in transit, we will replace them FREE of charge if notified within 10 days from date of shipping. We want you to succeed with our Mums, and be satisfied, for

YOUR SATISFACTION IS OUR SUCCESS!

PRICES. Our prices are postpaid, and we do not make any extra charge for packing. If you live a long way from Portland it may be advisable to add 25 cents for Special Handling.

QUANTITY PRICES. As it takes as much packing and postage to send a few plants as it does a dozen and more, we allow the following discounts on larger orders:

If your order amounts to from $5.00 to $14.99, deduct 10% from your bill. (Thus if your order is $5.50 send only $5.00, if it is $6.00 sent only $5.40 and so on.)
On orders of $15.00 and up the discount is 15%. And in addition we pay both postage and packing.

No discount on collections.

SUBSTITUTES. In case we are out of the variety you ordered we substitute a similar type and color at the same or better value. If no substitute is desirable, please mark order with: NO SUBSTITUTE. Thank you!

SALES TAX. As Oregon has NO SALES TAX, do not add any Sales Tax to your order.

PICK-UPS. We ship our orders by parcel post, except you wish to pick your order up at our nursery. In this case please mark "PICK-UP" on your order and give telephone number. We will then advise you when your order is ready. Upon information when you will be at the nursery to pick up your order, we will have it ready upon your arrival.

PERENNIALS. Chrysanthemums are perennials. That means they last for many years, just as delphiniums, etc.

ROOTED CUTTINGS. The most satisfactory way to propagate Mums is by rooted cuttings. Our Mum cuttings are grown in 2-inch pots and therefore have a good root system. Though these cuttings may look small when they arrive, they grow fast after they get established, make large plants, and bloom at the right time.

CULTURAL INSTRUCTIONS. Full Cultural Instructions are furnished with every order or may be had for 25 cents in stamps.

VISITORS. The best time to select your chrysanthemums is when they bloom, for no color description can do justice to the true color of the flower. You are therefore cordially invited to visit our Chrysanthemum Garden at blooming time. Some varieties bloom already in August, but as the season moves on, more and more varieties come into flower. If you cannot come several times to see the varieties as they come into bloom, the best time would be after the middle of September. During blooming time we are always at the nursery Sunday afternoons and Mondays. You may come any time and browse around even if no attendant is at hand. Drive to S. E. 52nd Avenue and Harney Drive and follow signs.

EARLY ENGLISH CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Early English Chrysanthemums have almost as large flowers as the late Exhibition type, but bloom already in August and September long before frost and rain, and continue blooming until late fall. In our gardens they were still in full bloom by December first this year. They make very fine cut flowers when grown as sprays, but for the show they have to be disbudded. See our Cultural Instructions for further details.

EARLY HARDY GARDEN CHRYSANTHEMUMS

Our Early Hardy Garden Mums are a far cry from the small and late chrysanthemums one still sees in many gardens. Many of our modern Garden Mums have three to four inch flowers, and they bloom as early as August, though most of them begin to bloom about the middle of September, and they bloom until late fall. To grow them for long-stemmed cut flowers, pinch them back once to 6 inches when they are 12 inches high. Treat them according to the Cultural Instructions, and they will grow to the height given in the list. If you wish to grow them for landscape effect, cut them back two or three times as outlined in the Cultural Instructions. That keeps them down to plants about 18 inches high.

ABBREVIATIONS: D—Double flowering; SD—Semi-double or singles with several layers of petals; P—Pompons, ball-like flowers from 1½ inches across and up; B—Buttons, ball-like flowers smaller than pompons; S—Singles having one or two rows of petals, with prominent disk in center.

E.Sept.—Early Sept.; M.Sept.—Mid-Sept.; L.Sept.—Late Sept.; E.Oct.—Early Oct.; M.Oct.—Mid-Oct.; L.Oct.—Late Oct.; E.Nov.—Early Nov.

(K) behind a variety means a variety introduced by Dr. E. J. Kraus, formerly of the University of Chicago, now at Oregon State College at Corvallis. Dr. Kraus' 70 varieties are bred to withstand the cold weather of Wisconsin and Minnesota, and therefore also adapted to the cold winters of the Intermountain States.

(U of N) behind the name denotes a variety bred by the University of Nebraska. These are very hardy chrysanthemums, the flowers are bred to withstand early frost up to 22 degrees. If you live in a cold climate with early frosts try some of these hardy Mums.

Of course all Hardy Garden Mums are well adapted to our mild climate on the Pacific Coast, west of the Cascades and Sierras.
